TV TRAINING ACADEMY
International TV, Film & Communications Training

TV Presenting isn't simply about looks or age its far more than that, it's all about connection with the audience. We believe that most people already have the resources to present on camera and with the correct tuition, practise and coaching can become effective and professional TV & Video personalities in their own right.

This is a fully inclusive training course giving you everything you need to get started as a TV presenter, video marketing presenter or social commentator.

You'll learn the language of television and experience the process in a hands on, in studio approach which provides invaluable insight and experience to place you ahead of others competing for the audition.

Our aim is to ensure that on completion of the course your presenting is strong, effective and professional and that you have the confidence and ability to work as a studio presenter.

We will record all footage throughout the 4 days and produce a professionally edited full length audition showreel which can be used as a tool for auditions or self promotion.

"Top presenters have total control of their fears. They make fear their slave, not the master."

Doug Malouf, Presenter

"Make sure you have finished speaking before your audience has finished listening."

Dorothy Sarnoff, Author & Presenter

The TV Training Academy has been training TV presenters for over 15 years with many of our Presenters appearing on BBC, ITV, Sky and other major TV channels world wide. In fact, it's almost certain that if you watch television then you've probably seen someone who has been trained by us!

Without doubt the world's leading TV Presenter Training provider, our professional team of producers, directors and presenters deliver a comprehensive and intense training program to provide you with the necessary skills to present and recommendations on how to apply for roles.
